REORGANIZATION OF BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE AFFECTED AT A BIG BANQUET HERE

Fans of All Cities in Loop Expected to Attend the Conference

HUNTSVILLE WANTS LEAGUE FRANCHISE

Overtures Made Looking to Purchase of Joe Eaks and Moseley

The first real step in reorganization of the Alabama-Tennessee baseball league will be taken Friday night, February 3, when a banquet will be held in the rooms of the Albany chamber of commerce here, when representatives are expected to be present from all cities seeking a berth in the circuit.

According to rumors current in baseball circles here, Huntsville has asked for a place in the loop and it is likely that Huntsville will replace Russellville. The Tri-Cities, composed of Sheffield, Florence and Tusculum, are expected to be in the league, together with Columbia and Albany-Decatur. The addition of Huntsville would make a very strong four-club circuit. If Athens, member of the loop for a short time last year, decides to re-enter the league, the moguls will take up the question of interesting a fourth city and it is possible that Russellville will retain her franchise. The Russellville club last year, however, is reported to have lost considerable money.

It was rumored here today that Huntsville fans have made overtures to the local club in regard to the purchase of Pitcher Moseley and First Baseman Eaks, both Huntsville residents, and both of whom were members of the Albany-Decatur clan last year. The Huntsville fans are said to have been informed the sale would be made for a consideration of $1,250. Moseley was the leading twirler in the A-D league last year.

Joe Johnston, Twin catcher, is wintering here and is ready for the opening of spring training. All of last year's hurling staff likely will be back here next year. Manager McDuff, in view of his own determination not to play next year and the probable sale or transfer of Eaks, probably will have to construct an entirely new infield, with the exception of Lauderdale, who will return. Gilliland has been given his release.

Last year's outfield, composed of Carter, McClain and Lewis, probably will return. The Twins won the first season pennant last year and defeated Russellville in the play-off.

Workers on Board of Directors, Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Election of employees as directors as a means of preventing impending railroad crisis was proposed today before the senate interstate commerce committee by Henry P. Hunt, former member of the United States labor board.

"The men ought to participate in the management of the roads. This would solve practically all railroad difficulties and would avert a financial crisis," Hunt told the committee.

SECRETARY RETAINED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Miss Sophia Watts, secretary of the state conservation department for many years, will be retained in her position by L. T. Quinn, who was appointed commissioner of conservation last week as the successor of John H. Wallace, Jr., deceased. Mr. Quinn announced today that he desired Miss Watts to remain with the department.

TENNESSEE VALLEY INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

SOLDIER BONUS IS STILL PLAN OF G.O.P.

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Despite the renewed opposition of Secretary Mellon to a soldier bonus, it was agreed at a joint meeting of the Republican steering committee of the senate and house today to push ahead the Republican plan for adjusted compensation for ex-service men, with all possible speed.

Republican leaders who took part in the meeting indicated that the objection raised by Mellon to the utilization of either principal or interest of the foreign debt to finance a soldier bonus, would be ignored. It also was decided that the house ways and means committee should at once undertake the task of writing a new bonus bill, to be passed first by the house and subsequently by the senate in accordance with the constitutional provision that financial legislation must originate with the lower chamber.

A caucus of the entire Republican membership of the house is to be held tomorrow night, at which party action on the bill is planned and at which an overwhelming majority of house Republicans is expected to swing behind the bonus plans.

MARKET IRREGULAR

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The stock market continued to move in an irregular manner at the opening today, but most of the leading issues turned steady after the initial transactions. Gulf States Steel rose 1.5 to 77.5.

Try a Want Ad

Methods of surgery in the past was widely different from the practice now. Then it was thought to bleed one from both sides of the body was necessary in order to complete the operation. Now we know that the blood circulates and an incision made on any point of the human frame will accomplish the result sought to be attained. Bleeding was done before newspapers grew to be the medium through which news was disseminated. The average family consists of five members, so three thousand copies of a paper will, according to this calculation, be read by fifteen thousand readers. Formerly if one had an article for sale or exchange, the sale or exchange was not effected until the buyer or seller came together.

Today the want ads solve this problem as many can testify, and at once get results.

Try a want ad in The Daily and see how quickly the article you have for sale or exchange is brought to the attention of one who wants the very article you have. They are inexpensive and have a great selling power.

Negro is Fatally Hurt at Sheller

Will Johnson, negro, employe of F. E. Taylor, happened to an accident late Tuesday evening at the sheller plant on Sixth avenue, sustaining injuries from which he died an hour later.

In some manner his coat was caught in a pulley and from there he was thrown back to the sheller, falling from there to the floor.

SOUP KITCHEN IS BEING PLANNED

A very enthusiastic meeting was held Monday evening in the Kiwanis club rooms to discuss the possibilities of an organization for the relief of the unemployed in Albany-Decatur. A soup kitchen was discussed and committees were appointed to secure funds from the municipalities and the several organizations of the Twin Cities. A committee to investigate a suitable location was named, J. W. Clopton being elected as temporary chairman and Mrs. Vera Austell as temporary secretary.

A meeting will be held in the Kiwanis club rooms Friday, January 27, at 3:30 p. m., for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization to carry on this work, the above committees will be prepared to report at this meeting and it is expected that the new organization will be ready to function immediately. All persons in Albany-Decatur who are interested in humanity are urged to be present and all clubs and churches are asked to be represented.

CROP FIGURES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Alabama's total crop production in 1921 was 86 per cent of the total crop production the preceding year, according to figures made public today by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician. Alabama and Mississippi tied for first place in the list of crop production. The percentage of production for all southern states was 65 in 1921 compared with 1920, while the percentage for the nation was 63.

VIGOROUS DRIVE FOR RIGHTS TO ORGANIZE LAUNCHED BY FARM DELEGATES IN MEET

Farmers Desire Greater Legal Freedom in Collective Marketing of Crops

DENY CONFLICT WITH ANTI-TRUST LAWS

Entire Day Devoted to Discussion of Needs of Open Market

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Backed up by publicly expressed support from President Harding, farmers of the country at the national agricultural conference launched a vigorous drive for the right to act collectively in co-operative marketing of their products. They challenged the legality of either state or federal government to deny them organization and gave a warning to the nation that interference in the fulfillment of their plans will result in "endless conflict" and confusion.

Through E. H. Powell, of Los Angeles, Cal., general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and other speakers, from all sections of the United States, the farmer delegates initiated concerted demand that the legislative bodies of the country give them legal power to organize.

Delegates openly declared their demand is not inconsistent with provisions of the anti-trust act. They promised to press the conference to go on record as favoring a nation-wide co-operative marketing scheme.

Practically the whole program of today's session was given over to discussion of the needs of an open market of agricultural products and the presentation of an outline of the fundamentals of the system.

Cotton and grain producers joined with fruit growers, cattle men and the representatives of the other varied phases of agriculture in forcing this demand.

"Farmers should have the legal right to organize and to act collectively, to form purchasing, warehousing and distributing agencies and to acquire and disseminate information for the orderly purchasing, distribution and marketing of their products. They should be enabled to finance their undertaking and to be permitted to handle their questions as distinct agricultural problems. They also should have the legal right to sell in open competition through a central agency and to demand the prices which fairly reflect the law of supply and demand," Mr. Powell said.

Rains May Delay Election Returns

Should the present rains continue through the balance of this week, it is thought that there will be some difficulty experienced in getting the boxes containing the ballots and other necessary material to some of the remote voting places in the county. Every effort will be made to see that all is in readiness for the battle of ballots and it may be necessary to dispatch the boxes to some points on horseback.

REGISTRARS NAMED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Appointments of members of the boards of registration of Etowah and Talladega counties were announced by Governor Kilby, chairman of the state board of registration, today. Charles McClelland, of Attalla Route One, was appointed in Etowah county as the successor of Stonewall J. Miller, whose position was vacated. C. S. Hancock, of Talladega, received the appointment in Talladega county to succeed Earle Montgomery, resigned.

Child Falls in Fire and Badly Burned on Face

The three year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Mooney Gillintine, of Trinity mountain, fell into an open fireplace at the family home this morning and was painfully burned about the face, according to information received here. The mother was preparing breakfast when the accident occurred. The child's eye was burned out, it was stated, and other painful injuries were received.

CONTROVERSY ON CHURCH POLITICS ARISES AT ROME

(International News Service) ROME, Italy, Jan. 25.—As the lying in state period of the late Pope Benedict XV drew to a close today, heated controversies arose over church politics and the policy pursued by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, toward the Italian government.

Bitter comment appeared in the press. Certain newspapers accused the Cardinal of having officially communicated news of the Pontiff's death to the Italian government, thus renewing diplomatic relations which had been severed since 1870. Interest in the election centers for the most part upon sensational allegations that have been made in the press regarding the use of money.

One paper alleges that 5,000,000,000 lire were deposited in a Rome bank to support propaganda in favor of the election of the Italian Cardinal. Representatives of another paper interviewed an unnamed Cardinal who declared that "he was disgusted with the attempt to prepare for a conclave in the same way that American politicians prepared for the election of a president."

"I cannot hide my disgust. In America the way is prepared for a presidential election with a newspaper campaign, backed up with millions of dollars. That should never happen in the election of a Pope," said this Cardinal.

The Italian government is preparing to keep order and prevent hostile demonstrations in the event of the election of a non-Italian Pope. Troops are being brought from Milan and Venice.

CLOPTON TO MAKE "ESKIMO PIES"

J. W. Clopton, president of the Decatur Ice Cream and Creamery company, returned last night from Nashville, where he closed a contract with the Russell Stover company, of Chicago, to manufacture the frozen confection known as Eskimo Pie.

The company will manufacture this product and distribute it in Albany-Decatur and surrounding territory in which they ship. Mr. Clopton states that he has all necessary equipment already installed and will turn out several hundred of the popular confections today.

A combination of hot chocolate and cold ice cream is something unheard of until about 60 days ago and it has proven so popular and is being so thoroughly advertised that the demand can not be supplied in the cities where it has been introduced. Although only about 60 days old the inventors have already contracted for double page advertisements in such magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, and their contract calls for a liberal amount of advertising in local newspapers.

SENATE LEADERS TO PUT CONTRACT THRU WITH THE SUPPORT OF "FARMING BLOC"

Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, Will Lead Fight For Project

CONTRACT IS EXPECTED TO BE SIGNED THIS WEEK

Weeks Promises Contract Will be Sent to Congress at Once

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The bloc methods of getting things accomplished is becoming an epidemic. Today a farmer-paper bloc was organized as a part of the national agricultural conference. It is composed of editors of agricultural publications. Late today the new bloc will call on Secretary of War Weeks and demand favorable action on Henry Ford's offer to buy Muscle Shoals. The delegation will be headed by Carl Williams, of Oklahoma. The farm-paper bloc also will make the conference to sustain and recommend the extension of the functions of the federal farm loan board and the war finance corporation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Quick senate action on Henry Ford's offer to lease the government's waterpower project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was promised today by leaders of the senate's agricultural bloc.

Ford's offer, it was learned, will be backed by the southern delegation almost to a man, and also will gain support from senators representing the Mississippi valley and middle-western agricultural districts.

Support of Ford's offer in the senate is expected to be led by Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee. The purpose of Ford's offer as told to senators is not only to develop waterpower in the South, but to determine the extent to which electricity and industrial chemistry may be applied for the benefit of the agricultural interests.

It also was revealed to senators that control of nitrate distribution will rest in a board created by representatives of national farm organizations. The complete copy of the Ford offer now is in the hands of senators and they are giving it careful study, prior to the transmission to congress by Secretary of War Weeks of the contract covering Ford's proposal to take over the Muscle Shoals property.

The contract, as drawn up by legal experts of the war department, has been sent to Ford to be signed and is expected to be returned to Washington by the last of the week. Secretary Weeks has stated that it probably will be sent to the senate and house on Saturday or Monday.

ROAD WOULD BORROW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Henry Ford's railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, today asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $451,000 of first mortgage, 50 year 5 per cent gold bonds, maturing March 1, 1994. The proceeds are to be used to reimburse the road's treasury for expenditures made between July 1, 1920, and July 1, 1921, for additions and betterments to the road, including additional terminal facilities.

MORROW SERVED

In the chronological review that appeared in The Daily of Tuesday, the writer overlooked the fact that D. Belmont Morrow had served the county one term as circuit clerk, he following James L. Draper, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of John R. Fowler.

LIVING IN DISREGARD OF THE LAW WILL NOT ALWAYS BE POPULAR

In our system—in any democracy, there are many laws that seem to contradict each other. And for this reason, as well as for many others, we seem to leave the laws to enforce themselves. And as no law has the power to enforce itself, the consequence is we have very many laws broken and disregarded. To ignore one law, creates a contempt for all law in the mind of the violator and of the people generally.

An unpunished law breaker easily begins to feel that he is above the law—he easily forgets his duty to the community, and finally makes no effort to conserve the greatest good to the greatest number. And law breakers are not content to thus assume no responsibility. They soon become to feel that the sole purpose of their existence is to gain some special advantage, some immunity from the penalties of the law.

Because such a large percentage of our national population seem to feel themselves above the law, and either commit crimes or sympathize with those who do, we are having one crime wave after another, especially in our large cities. Added to this deplorable condition, it seems that in two many cases, those who are expected to uphold the law, like to break it down for their own selfish purpose.

We have good assurances that at heart the American people are law abiding. We believe that nothing in our national life is more to be revered than law and order. We know that it is the duty of the strong to protect the weak, and that the law is the means or weapon to be used in this great task. We believe that every man is equal before the law and that no one is above the law. On all matters concerning the law, the American people hold sound and wholesome beliefs—it only remains for us to put our beliefs into actions. Once the sentiment for law enforcement is thoroughly aroused, the task of making our laws respected will not be so difficult. By the same token, that lawlessness spreads, so, respect for the law will grow by leaps and bounds, once it becomes considered the proper thing to have the laws enforced. A few bold law enforcement officers, will make many bold law enforcement officers, until the time may come when "one shall chase a thousand and two shall put ten thousand to flight."

IF LENINE GOES TO GENOA

As criminals make counter charges, when accused, so the Russians are reported in late dispatches to be planning to make counter indemnity claims, when the Western European countries present war debt claims against them at the Genoa conference. Lenine is said to have a small army of experts at work on documents calculated to show that a number of European countries, and even America, are due the Russians huge war indemnities. The most interesting Russian, if he can be called one, to appear at Genoa if he keeps to his purpose, will be Lenine, the Bolshevik Mogul Maximus. Despite the abominations of Lenine, it must be remembered that he was able to impress his personality and his will upon 170,000,000 people. And he has been able to hold his dictatorship for nearly six years. Intellectless men do not perform such feats of mental power. Lenine has been painted as a monster, and granted this, still he is a gigantic one.

If he comes to Genoa, however he will be up against quite a different set of men than those over whom he ruled in Russia. Will he be bold and able enough to cope with the shrewdest and most resourceful men of western Europe? What Lenine could not accomplish by persuasion in Russia, he accomplished by force, but neither force or nice words will avail him anything when he meets the men of the west.

Lenine will meet a company at Genoa, if he reaches that city, all frankly hostile and critical of him; and unless he can tell a mighty straight tale, and make a great show of power, Lenine will go away from Genoa a sadder but a wiser man.

Through the gloomy weather that obtained here for the past three weeks, the mind stretches forth to the bright sunshine that is soon to follow. The old idea of reasoning that one extreme follows another, buoys up under circumstances like the present, and the time of sunshine and flowers, and sons of bird's will be soon seen and heard on every hand.

If it were not for the changing season's, life would be very dull and monotonous, "and spring would be but gloomy weather," etc., is quite true. The contrast furnishes a variety, and variety is said to be the spice of life.

At any rate conditions have much to do with temperament, and the changes bring agreeable changes of temperament.

Young people frequently refrain from attempting to do things because they will make mistakes. Mistakes are but the things on which one may mount to perfect work of the job in hand. The thing is, not to be afraid of making mistakes, but, profit by them, and if this is the rule of life, there will be no doubt about one's accomplishments.

That congressman or senator who fails to do his best for the constituency he represents just at this period of his services, will find it mighty hard sailing when he comes home and begins to tell of all the great accomplishments he has effected.

The people are awake and thinking as never before, and some real interesting things may happen.

POPE BENEDICT XV

The death of Pope Benedict XV, announced to have occurred at his official residence in Rome, removes one of the essentially powerful and influential figures of the world's spiritual activities. Pope Benedict, a gentle and modest man succeeded one of the most brilliant and popular pontiffs, perhaps, that ever ruled the Roman Catholic church, Pope Leo XIII. His position, for that reason, became from the first a difficult one. But he was a man of extraordinary native intelligence, a lover of peace and profoundly pious. He very soon won the love and respect of the communicants of the church the world over, a victory coming purely from his genuine sympathetic heart and his worth of character and gentle attainments.

His has not been an altogether joyful reign, for his great heart had been torn by the wrack of war and bloodshed from which every fiber of his being suffered keenly. He was forced by the very nature of the conflict to preserve a neutrality foreign to his wishes. He would have ended the conflict if it had been in his power without a victory to either side, because his "own spiritual children" were involved in every phase of the controversy and were found in all of the opposing armies. His pleas for peace during the progress of hostilities were characteristic of his quiet character—neither aggressive nor submissive, but appealing with all the grace with which his exalted station was endowed—graces, however, that were utterly helpless and powerless against the madness of the German war lords.

He lived, however, to be of service in composing the age-old differences between Ireland and England. From the first he was sympathetic with the efforts of King George, of England, for reconciling the two long-contending factions of his people, and his messages of sympathy and interest had a most soothing and winning effect, without doubt, upon both sides of the channel. For his efforts in that behalf he will hold a high place in the affection of both the English and the Irish people who are to be brought together, largely through his influence, as friends and co-workers for the civilization both had a part in establishing and forwarding.

While Pope Benedict had not made a very serious impression upon his time, he goes to his reward in the enjoyment of the respect and esteem of all peoples. He was genuine and sincere in all that he said and did and while not a strong man he was faithful to his trust and not the slightest scandal occurred to mar the good name of his incumbency. He was beloved of his own people, because he was in all things the "Holy Father," and he enjoyed the confidence and respect of other denominations because he kept himself clear of all offensive interference with other than his own affairs.—Chattanooga Times.

ANOTHER CONSPICUOUS EXAMPLE OF "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING"

Ever since the Muscle Shoals project began to attract public notice hasty orthographers have been waging a controversy which has resulted in columns of valuable space being wasted in the newspapers.

The citizen who thinks he knows a thing or two, saw the word spelled "muscle" and forthwith said to himself, "Ha? Such ignorance is appalling. I'll write a letter to the editor about it." Editors themselves have written learnedly on the subject. Many and weird have been the theories advanced in favor of "muscle." One explanation, made in all seriousness, was that the name was given to the shoals in the Tennessee river because it took muscle to get over them.

The dictionaries give "muscle" as a variation of "mussel," as plied to a certain kind of shell fish, and that is all there is to this heated controversy. There can be little doubt that the name was derived from what are better known as mussels. The spelling "muscle" instead of "mussel" got on the maps, into government reports and elsewhere at some time in the distant past and is now accepted as correct. As a matter of fact, it is correct, if Brother Webster and other eminent lexicographers can be relied on.

It isn't a question of spelling that we are chiefly interested in just now, but the disposal of a government project on which millions of dollars were spent. And it begins to look as if it were more a matter of politics than orthography.—Age Herald.

SHORTAGE OF MINISTERS AND WHY

A few days ago a news dispatch from a nearby town announced that the local minister of one of the leading churches of the community had tendered his resignation to go to another town, and the presumption was natural that he was offered a higher salary, a salary that would enable him to have some of the luxuries as well as the necessities of life, and enable him to clothe and educate his children.

These oft-recurring changes of ministers from one pulpit to another, from one community, or one state, to another, is too often explained in this way—insufficient salary. But these changes are not the only results of small pay for men of the pulpit. It is causing a shortage of preachers. As a remedy for this condition, Bishop James E. Wise of Kansas, has asked the Episcopal church to fix a minimum wage for the clergy, and what he says in that connection is well worthy of consideration and by other than the Episcopal church.

A shortage of clergymen exists, according to Bishop Wise. This, he says, is due to inadequate salaries. Preachers are compelled, by the high cost of living, to desert the pulpit for other vocations, better paying jobs. Most of them are married and have families to support. They cannot bring up children upon less than the common laborer's wage, and that is what the average preacher's salary is.

"The laborer is worthy of his hire," which is just as true today as it was when the words first were spoken. Can you, dear reader, think of a laborer more worthy of his hire than the pastor of your church? This doesn't mean, is he worth what he gets? It means, rather: Does he get what he is worth? Worth to you? To your children? To your community? If he isn't getting that, he isn't getting a fair deal from the members of his congregation.

You can't blame the preacher for leaving the starvation-pay pulpit. The blame rests upon those who, placing him in the pulpit, refuse to pay an adequate wage.—Montgomery Journal.

Voice of People

Hartselle, Jan. 24, 1922

My dear Mr. Editor:

Under the management of the athletic committee of the Morgan County Teachers Association, a cross-country run will be held at Albany, Ala., on Saturday, February 4th. All the schools of the county are urged to take part in the contest. Each school will be allowed one contestant, and it will be an event of much interest and pleasure. I earnestly request that every school in the county have as many teachers and pupils present as possible and make this a success.

Yours very truly,
E. L. HAYS, County Supt.

COMMITTEE PLAN
NOW RECONSIDERED

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25—
Because of the uncertainty of the validity of the action of the state Democratic executive committee in separating the positions on the supreme court, court of appeals and public service commission, J. H. Webb, chairman of the committee, has submitted the question again to the committee members by referendum.

Chairman Webb, on long distance telephone late Tuesday, advised J. H.
Champion, secretary, that the letter was mailed to members of the committee during the day. The resolutions of the committee required each candidate for the supreme court, court of appeals and public service commission to designate the position he desires.
Many attorneys are of the opinion that this provision is in conflict with the primary election law of 1915.

Several attorneys who are members of the committee have expressed the opinion that the action was legal, but the opinion of other attorneys and laymen against the validity of the action is so general Chairman Webb desired to obtain another vote of the committee.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
MORGAN KIWANIS CLUB

Albany-Decatur

A LETTER TO ALL ALBANY AND DECATUR BUSINESS MEN:

You are invited to have an exhibit representative of your business at the Tennessee Valley Industrial Exposition to be held in Albany-Decatur February 18th to 28th.

This event is being fostered by the Chamber of Commerce and the Morgan Kiwanis Club for the "Twin Cities."

Owing to the fact that the attention of the entire country is being centered upon the Muscle Shoals District, this Exposition is most timely, it being a splendid opportunity to attract the attention of manufacturers, many of whom are looking this way, to our natural resources and manufacturing advantages.

At the same time, the exposition, which is being advertised in over one hundred towns and communities in North Alabama and Southern Tennessee, is bound to bring profitable trade and stimulate business.

A complete mineral and crude material exhibit is being secured.
There will be exhibits by both local and national manufacturers, wholesale and retail stores, agencies, various organizations, county and state departments, historical exhibits, a corn show, together with other agricultural features, demonstrations, amusements and numerous special features of an industrial development nature.

The attendance will undoubtedly be large and the event should be profitable to all exhibitors. It will be a rare opportunity to meet the representative buyers of the Tennessee Valley country. Please call Albany 51 for space, or address Chamber of Commerce, Albany, or Kiwanis Club, Decatur.

Everybody push and make this event not only of local but also of country-wide importance. It is already receiving considerable mention in the press of other states and it will give the "Twin Cities" the prominence they merit in the development of the Muscle Shoals District.

Very truly yours,

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

WILL SHIP BERRIES IN CARLOAD LOTS

There will be an unusual thing happen at Hartselle this season, as there will be carload lots of strawberries shipped from that point. For several years there has been shipments of berries in a small way to nearby markets, Albany-Decatur and Nashville, Tenn., but this year arrangements are now being completed whereby car lots will go forward.

There were several acres set in strawberries in that section last spring and summer, but owing to the extreme drought that came during the months of May, June and July, many of the plants died. There is much enthusiasm over the berry prospect, and more acreage will be put out in the early fall, and complete replanting take place.

Uncle Andy One of Oldest Negroes

One of the oldest negroes of the county is old uncle Anderson Wright, and lives on the Bee Line highway. Uncle Anderson is one of the old time negroes of the country, and bears a reputation for honesty and uprightness with both white and black alike.

He makes his living by burning charcoal and bottoming chairs. The chairs are gathered up by him from time to time, and he will go to the woods and get white oak timber and rive the splits with which to do the work. The charcoal he burns from pine timber, the kiln being assembled and torch applied and then smothered. He peddles the charcoal thus obtained to nearby towns, to farmers who use it for heating their soldering irons, and to housewives with which to use in furnace and heat smoothing irons. He is regularly watched for on his trips and is able to make enough to live.

He was raised by a close relative of Monroe T. Swift, and Mr. Swift rarely ever makes a visit to this section without remembering the old negro.

Negro Orchestra Players Beaten

(International News-Service).

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25.—Six members of a negro orchestra, who shortly after midnight were taken to the outskirts of the city and beaten by a mob of about 75 men, were placed aboard a north-bound train early this morning by a guard of policemen.

The negroes say they were lured away in an automobile to play at the country home of "Mr. Samia." When outside the city the car was surrounded by a mob and the negroes were taken out and beaten and ordered to leave Miami in 24 hours.

Their instruments were destroyed, they said. The destination of the departing orchestra players is their home, Columbus, Ohio. They had been engaged for the season here by one of the tourist hotels.

SNOW IN GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 25.—Northern Georgia and part of North and South Carolina were covered early today with a blanket of snow. In Atlanta, however, the snow was heavy and damp and melted almost as fast as it fell. It was estimated that about an inch fell here. At 10 o'clock this morning the Atlanta temperature was 31 degrees and predictions were for freezing weather tonight.

CASHIN FEARS RAIL CONFERENCES WILL NOT BE SUCCESSFUL

(International News-Service).

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Pro-war regional conferences between railroad and union officials, as a means of averting labor crises are doomed to failure. C. D. Cashin, president of the international switchmen's union of North America, one of the big five, declared today.

"It is simply turning the clock back and I don't believe it will work," he asserted. Mr. Cashin is here attending a meeting of the railroad brotherhoods, hearing upon the future policies. The regional conference idea recently was suggested by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and accepted by the railroads of the country in session here last Saturday night.

"It is the railroad's plan to keep on cutting wages, to negotiate with that end in view, so disputes are certain to arise and it is a foregone conclusion that the whole thing would wind up in a national affair. The issues wouldn't stay regional. It would be finally up to the labor board," Cashin said.

The railroad employee cannot afford to accept another wage cut, he said. The cost of living has not come down in proportion to the wage reduction as already accepted, Mr. Cashin said.

Alabama Laws Aid Mississippi

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25.—The special committee of the Mississippi legislature will have the modern utility and transportation laws of Alabama as a guide in rewriting the statutes of that state. At the request of the special committee recently named to study the subject, the public service commission of Alabama today forwarded two copies of each act to the Mississippi legislature.

A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama commission, wrote the special committee that the new laws had proved of great value to this state and the separation of utilities and transportation into two measures had been of value in the administration of the department.

Nix Speaks For Road Bond Issue

Attorney Elmer C. Nix, addressed an audience at Moulton Heights Monday night on the good roads movement. There were between sixty and seventy who heard him, with only one outspoken against the measure. After the speaking, this man came to him and pledged his support. The speaking was held in the new Moulton Heights school building, which has just recently been completed, and of which the citizenship of that thriving community is justly proud.

Ballot Boxes Will Go Out Thursday

The checking of the poll list of the county has progressed to a point that the boxes and material for holding the road bond election will be dispatched to the different polling places in the rural districts beginning tomorrow. The other boxes at points along the railroad will be dispatched later, as they are easily reached.

The work of checking the list has been a tedious task, and great care has been exercised to have it correct.

Delinquent Public Improvement Assessments for Streets, Walks and Sewers. All property owners are hereby warned that payment must be made at once. List is being made up for advertisement and sale of such property.

Pa Prophesies Ashur's Fate

Sentiment Changes in Favor of Bonds

Good news comes from over the county on the reversal of sentiment in regard to the bond issue for good roads that will be voted on January 30th. At some places there was a well defined opposition to the plan, but this has given way to a clearer view of the situation, and many who were outspoken against it now are enthusiastic advocates of the measure and will do their utmost to put it over. "The plan is so simple and clear cut, and it doesn't cost any more to have good roads than it does to do without them, why not make it by acclamation?" The Daily was asked. "The automobile tax must be paid anyway, and if we vote yes, this tax goes right back to the roads. If you vote no, other states get what we badly need and should have—good roads. Get in line and roll up a big majority."

THE TIME TO TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

When You Feel a Little "Off" It Will Bring You Back to Health

Some people never need any medicine at all. They are, as the saying goes, "strong as a bull." They are mighty lucky. Most people need a good tonic once in a while. They take cold, or through overwork or social activity do not get enough sleep; many eat improper food and thus hurt the digestion. It is mighty wise to take Gude's Pepto-Mangan with the meals for a few weeks and build up. One cannot have too much good health. Pepto-Mangan gives you plenty of red blood, and everybody knows that red blood means feeling good and looking good all the time. Sold by druggists in liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

Truck Growers to Meet Saturday

A meeting of the Morgan County Union Truck Growers association is called to meet at Hartselle January 28th, at one o'clock. Every member and all interested in truck growing should be present.

Plans will be discussed for buying fertilizer, plants and crates, the last named for the shipment of the berry crop from this section.

The wholesale order will be made up at this meeting, and if you are left out, don't blame the other fellow. The management stresses the importance of every member especially being present.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I got acquainted with a young man not very long ago, and he asked if he could call and see me. I already had a date for that night, so, of course, I refused him.

He then called me and asked me to go to a show with him on another night, and it was impossible for me to go. I told him if I could go I'd call him and tell him.

When I told him I couldn't go and also the reason, he got angry with me.

Now, I like the young man very much, and would like to have his friendship, as he is very nice.

Please tell me what I should say when I see him next time.

PUZZLED BROWN EYES.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl 17 years old. I am very much in love with a young man, but my mother does not approve of him. He does not live in this city, and my mother thinks I do not know him well enough to go out with him.

I think he is very nice, and I am sure my mother would like him if she would meet him. How can I persuade her to permit me to have him call on me?

BANGS.

BANGS: If you explain all this to your mother, my dear, in as sweet and affectionate a way as you can, perhaps she will consent to permit the young man to call on you occasionally. In this way she will become acquainted with him, and can tell whether he is a suitable friend for you. She may possibly think you are a little too young to receive calls from young men, and if she does, I know that out of respect for her you will be glad to wait for a little while.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

Barricades Prevent Serious Accident

The placing of a barricade to the approaches on both ends of the bridge across Flint creek on the Bee Line highway, South, was most timely and will prevent serious accidents. Only Sunday morning a car turned over at the south end of this bridge, and had it not been for the protection afforded by these lengthened approaches, serious results would in all probability followed. The road makes a sharp curve at each end of the bridge.

A protection of this kind also has been placed at the railroad crossing just north of Flint station where a leath or two has resulted from going over an embankment.

The board of revenue is to be commended for their foresight in this matter.

GUARD ACQUITTED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25.—(Special)—John L. Moon, former sheriff of Lee county, whose originality in advertising for escaped convicts and persons accused of crime attracted attention in many states, has entered the race for another term as sheriff. He qualified by filing his declaration with the secretary of state today.

J. C. Inzer, of Gadsden, notified the secretary of state that he is a candidate for state senator from Brown county.

W. M. Lackey qualified as a candidate for judge of the eighteenth judicial circuit.

Tennessee River Continues Climb

The Tennessee river here still was rising today, according to an announcement of Mrs. A. H. Irens, government observer. A stage of 10.5 feet was reached today and the crest is not expected until Thursday, when government forecasts are that the stream will reach a stage of 21.5 feet.

The forecast today said: Chattanooga, river 33 feet, falling; Bridgeport, weather cloudy, river 22.4, falling; Guntersville, weather cloudy, river 32.5, rising. Crest at Decatur Thursday.

Pointer Produce Store is Robbed

Police are searching for a clue to the identity of bold burglars who entered the produce store of Foster H. Pointer, Lee street, and escaped with a large quantity of merchandise.

Apparently the thieves made a long visit to the establishment and it is believed that they hauled away one load of goods and planned to haul away another when frightened away. Some merchandise was recovered from a shed in the rear of the building, where it is believed to have been stored pending the second trip of the burglars.

Wireless Phone At Exposition

The wonderful wireless telephone is to be demonstrated at the coming exposition and visitors to the exposition will distinctly hear music and talking that is transmitted through space for a distance of hundreds of miles.

J. O. Richardson and William Hocksmith, of Albany, are making arrangements for installing the wireless equipment that will be one of the wonders of the exposition.

AMERICA HELPS TO PAY GERMAN DEBT

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—How Germany is forcing American importers to pay part of the reparations indemnity is revealed by the new schedule of German export regulations, which has just reached here.

For each German industry there is now a ratio of prices for export in every case higher and in most cases considerably higher, than the domestic price for the same merchandise and the exportation of any kind of merchandise is strictly prohibited except after proper licensing.

Each shipment must be accompanied by an export license, which is granted only after the exporter testifies to the sale price and to the inland or domestic price. The difference between the two prices does not go into the pocket of the exporter, but is taken up as a tax by the German government.

Officials of the German government have explained that this set of regulations is only a necessary development of the agreement to pay the allies 26 per cent of all exports as a fund for reparations.

They add that these taxes are kept up also to counteract the charge that Germany is "dumping" goods at low prices, into foreign countries. This charge of "dumping" has already resulted in discriminatory tariff walls being erected in a number of countries against the importation of German goods.

YOUR HEALTH
Why You Should Make Your Doctor a Timely Friend

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

THERE is a French proverb reading like this: "When a man is dead, it is no use calling in the doctor."

Surveys of certain counties in New York state and some other states prove that hundreds of families rarely, if ever, call a doctor. A woman told me the other day that she was one of six children and that a doctor had never entered her father's house.

Unfortunately, there are plenty of families too poor to pay large fees to private physicians, but they are not the ones who suffer. These persons have the good sense to go to clinics and dispensaries where the ablest physicians of the community give medical advice. The result is that the lowest illness and death rates are found among the poor.

The Lowest Death Rate.

For instance, the densest area of population on earth is a black block on the east side of New York. This area showed last year a death rate among babies of 32 per thousand, while the rest of the city had a death rate of 18.

There can be but one explanation for this: The poor people trust the hospitals and the health authorities. They go to the baby health stations for advice.

The death rate of a community depends largely on the quality of the medical service rendered. Where the good doctors are and where they are patronized by the population, there the death rate is lowest. The time to call a doctor is in the beginning of illness. Indeed, as the proverb goes, "when a man is dead, it is no use calling in the doctor."

If you get a cinder in your eye, perhaps you poke at it and have one of your friends try to pick it out. The corner of a handkerchief, none too clean, a match whittled to a point or a Lathrop may be employed.

You have a pimple on your face and dig it with a pin. You pinch it with rolled fingers.

No wonder you get an infection and endanger your eyesight or your life by such carelessness.

Confide in the Doctor.

You take cold and go about your affairs half-sick for a day or two. You may land in the hospital with a serious case of bronchitis or even pneumonia.

It takes more sense to call a doctor than to call an undertaker. The duller the man needs a coffin. It shows that you possess brains when you call a doctor when a doctor is needed.

You don't have the blacksmith draw the milkman to plaster your house. But when it comes to illness or injury people run to any one for help, forgetting the doctor until, in many cases, it is too late.

The doctor cannot perform miracles. When a man is dead it is no use calling in the doctor. Make the doctor your friend, and confide in him at all times.

Answers to Health Questions

RUDE. Q.—Can you tell me how I can cure excessive perspiration of the under-arms, sides, chest and spine?

A.—It is good to perspire, especially while working, as this is one of the ways of elimination.

H. G. H. Q.—Is there any way which moles can be removed from the face?

A.—There are several ways in which to remove moles from the face—by the use of X-ray, radium, electric needle and other methods.

A. S. Q.—Will you kindly tell me of a sanatorium where a woman in poor health can be treated for a reasonable sum?

A.—Ask your family doctor to recommend a place to you where cases such as yours are treated.

M. M. F. Q.—Kindly tell me what are the first symptoms of consumption. Will cigarettes cause one to cough?

A.—First symptoms are very doubtful. Often there are no symptoms present. If there is any question about your condition you should have your chest examined. Cigarettes may cause one to cough.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. COTTON MARKET OPENING IS WEAK

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The cotton market opened weak this morning at a decline of 18 to 37 points, due to recession at Liverpool and bearish cables from Manchester. The only support came from Japanese and local interests.

The January position was favorably affected by the issuance of 18 notices. After the start trading continued active with trading holding around initial levels.

FARM BUREAU WILL MEET IN HARTSELLE

A most important meeting of the Morgan county farm bureau will be held at Hartselle on January 28th at 10 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present, and all who are interested in the welfare of the organization are invited to attend.

At this meeting reports will be heard from J. F. Cain, president of the organization, and Messrs. Gilchrist and Johnston on their recent trip to Muscle Shoals. At this meeting F. E. Boyd, state agronomist, will deliver an address on soils and crops.

Considerable progress has been made in membership during the last 30 days, and much interest is being evidenced by those who have taken the pains to inquire on the objects of this most important county movement.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

This day is conspicuous by the entire absence of Lunar aspects, but the mutual aspect between Mars and Uranus is forecast to make things lively enough, and in an exciting or abrupt manner. There may be a stirring up of affairs in a manner least expected. Nevertheless a firm grip should be held on the reins of a sudden nature, should they arise, as while the aspect is fortunate, it is as well to be cautious and to avoid the best good. Avoid risk and be cautious about lending money.

Those whose birthday it is, while having a generally even year to look forward to, may, however, expect some exciting episode to break in upon the monotony. Events sudden and precipitate may spring up, but they should be handled calmly and deliberately. Avoid all risks and loans. A child born on this day may be expected to be brave, adventurous and enterprising, with a tendency toward the unusual and the unconventional.

The Amateur's Score.
W. S. Gilbert once received a letter from an amateur composer suggesting that they should collaborate. "My score," wrote the amateur, "will be satisfactory, for, though educated as a chemist, I am a born composer." Gilbert wrote back regretting that he could not comply with the request. "I should have preferred," said he, "a born chemist who had been educated as a musician."

CAMERA STORY OF CAPTAIN RANDALL'S RESCUE OF SIX SEA CASTAWAYS

An unusual marine picture is this, made from the United States liner Hudson, off St. Pierre, New Foundland, showing the sinking of the French fishing smack Reine Desmiers, from which Captain Randall, of the Hudson, removed six of the crew under difficulties. The photograph at the right shows the rescued crew being lowered to the Hudson, which stood by. The captain of the fishing smack was washed overboard. In the top photograph Captain Randall is shown, with the rescued crew, upon their arrival in New York.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adela Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

How Lillian Outwitted Bess Dean.

I HAD switched off the light before Bess Dean spoke, and I turned in astonishment to look at her. Her request was so odd, her agitation so unusual, that I could not understand it, and when I looked at her I was still more puzzled. Her eyes were glancing from one side to the other like a person fearing pursuit. I said incredulously to myself, and her cheeks were flushed a vivid crimson. That something had put her in a panic was plainly to be seen. "Why, Bess! How absurd to think of leaving you at one of the stores! Do you realize that it is within fifteen minutes of train time? I'll run you over to the store at once, and then bring you back again. And Lillian can buy your ticket in the meantime if you wish."

"No, no!" Her voice was frantic. "I can't explain. You'll think I'm crazy. I know, but please do as I ask. If you don't, I'll have to jump out of the car right now, and go over there myself."

"What utter nonsense!" I retorted, turning back to the wheel and switching on the light.

"Of course, I'll take you over to the store at once, but I shall bring you back again."

"Wait a second."

Bess Dean's Agitation.

Lillian's cool, even tones arrested my foot upon the starter. I realized that unconsciously I had been waiting for her voice. When I had turned to speak to Bess I had been as much astonished at Lillian's attitude as at the panic of the younger woman. For my friend's eyes were playing over the girl as though she were some odd specimen of animal. Even as I watched they had gone significantly from her face to the group of women on the platform, then back again, and I wondered if her acute perception had found some connection between those women, the only people in sight, and the girl's sudden agitation.

"I want to get out here," she said. "Surely that is my old friend, Anna Edwards, on the platform?"

She had spoken slowly, deliberately, with her eyes on Bess Dean. And under her scrutiny the color receded from the girl's face, leaving it gray, and Bess Dean's eyes went down.

Lillian's eyes narrowed ever so slightly. A trick, the meaning of which I have learned. She does it unconsciously when she has played a card of wiles or power she had been doubtful, and sees it take a trick.

"How power that she should be here," she said slowly, significantly. "She is the assistant principal in your school to whom you were speaking this morning, is she not? I must ask her for the address of the airplane pilot who must have brought her here."

"Let me get out of here." The girl, forgetting the handle of the door, flung it open, and sprang to the ground. Then she fairly dashed her things to the platform, and faced us both with head flung back and defiant eyes.

"Run along back with your nurse, Madge," she sneered. "She can be counted upon to play the game for me at all times. And I've had a perfectly splendid time, old dear. I shall always remember how hard you've worked to give me a second time. I only hope I'll be able to entertain you as well some day. Good-by."

She waved an airy hand at me, and glanced under suddenly narrowed, sulky eyelids at Lillian.

"As for you," she said, "you've called the turn, and you're tickled enough to turn two somersaults. I suppose your spring code calls for one child warning another against the frivolous young vamp coming into the school's sacred precincts."

There was genuine anxiety in her tone, although her words were defiant, even taunting. I guessed that she was pinning all her hopes on so goading Lillian that Lillian would fly into a rage and then Miss Edwards would not be able to decide which was in the wrong.

"Mind Your Step."

"Just a moment, my young friend."

Lillian said, and there was that in her voice which held the girl immovable.

"You are making two mistakes. One is in referring to yourself as a vamp. A vamp is supposed to succeed in her vamping, is she not? But I haven't noticed any particular laurels on your brow unless you count cradle-snatching as an achievement."

She waited a full half-minute for her words to get beneath the skin of the girl who was watching her, afraid to go, equally afraid that a woman on the platform, who I guessed was Miss Edwards, and who was watching us, would come forward if I could not stop Lillian. I would, for during the drive down much of my rancor against the girl had disappeared. But I knew better than to interfere with Lillian in the cool wrath which possessed her.

"The other mistake you are making," she went on slowly, deliberately, "is in believing my reference to Miss Edwards. I never have set eyes on her in my life. But I think she is coming toward you now. Good-by, good luck, and—mind your step."

Burglars Tools in Men's Hotel Room

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 25.—Discovery of an assortment of what the police say are burglar's tools today led to the arrest of Henry Green and J. C. Miller in their room at a hotel here.

Included in the assortment were padded tack hammers, three pints of nitroglycerin and electric detonator and other paraphernalia. Road maps on which were marked towns in Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee also were found.

The men were arrested on advice furnished by Postmaster Kinzel, of Memphis, Tenn., who believes the men are wanted there for postoffice robbery.

SECRET OF A GOOD DISPOSITION

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Fretfulness and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Sickly, all-worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper, from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?—Advertisement.

AUTO DEALERS FOR ROAD BOND ISSUE

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany, Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 25—Members of the Alabama Automobile Dealers' Association in convention here endorsed the highway bond amendment which will be voted upon by the people of Alabama next Monday and pledged themselves to devote their time to the campaign during the remaining days of the week.

The endorsement of the amendment, which was by practically the unanimous vote of the association, came after F. J. Cramton, president of the Alabama Highway Improvement Association, had delivered an address on the proposed bond issue and the plans for the construction of a system of permanent highways connecting all counties in Alabama.

In addition to giving their personal time to the campaign, the dealers promised to distribute amendment literature throughout the week and to furnish automobiles for use in the campaign until the election.

Mayor W. A. Gunter, Jr., welcomed the automobile dealers to Montgomery and the response to the welcome was made by B. L. Malone, of Albany. M. K. Johnson, of Montgomery, president of the association, presided at the business meetings.

The afternoon was devoted to a business session during which the problems of automobile dealers were discussed.

WHY DON'T YOU ADVERTISE

By Thomas R. Sweetman

Attention lazy people

And open wide your eyes; If you would be successful, Why don't you advertise?

If you are doing business—Have anything for sale, Just come across and let The printer tell the tale.

Dame fortune has the money, And doesn't mind the price, So long as you can render A service good and nice.

She doesn't mind the distance, It may be near or far, So you should write and tell her Just where and who you are.

The world demands your labor, But little cares for you; Therefore, it is your business To tell what you can do.

Stand out before the people, Be constantly in their sight; And put in box car letters Your name in black and white.

Just boost up much your business, Excel your very aim; A few may never know you, But they will know your name.

There are a few too stingy To spend a copper cent; But closely watch their progress, And note their advancement.

Just one more thought—so listen, If you'd be first and wise; The surest way to prosper Is just to advertise.

—With Prof. Laxson's compliments.

How You May Beautify Your Legs and Your Ankles

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

MANY women would give almost anything they possess if only they could have slender legs and ankles. When we see legs and ankles that would rival those of a Greek goddess in their proportions, it hardly seems fair that some are born to possess these, while others cannot acquire them, try as they will.

Much can be done, however, to bring about legs and ankles down to better proportions. A trim, slender ankle is a point of pride with every woman who considers her personal appearance, and if there is a woman who doesn't come under this latter class she would be truly hard to find. Nothing can add

Try This Ankle-Reducing Exercise.

Stand to the chairs of an attractive, well-proportioned figure, than slender, tapering ankles. But, alas! while some women who are born with ankles which tally with this description, retain them through apparently no effort, there are others who must work to keep these coveted lines.

For those who wish to improve their ankles and those who would retain the slender lines they already possess, the following exercise is very good.

Stand erect, your heels placed close together and your toes turned out slightly, so that your feet are in a firm, comfortable position. Let your arms hang straight at your sides.

Now, raise yourself up on your toes, placing your hands on your hips. Be sure that you are well-balanced in this position, with your heels raised as high as possible, so that the tendons and muscles in your ankles are receiving the sharp, beauty you so greatly desire.

Shoes with Cuban heels are comfortable and, besides, and at the same time hold your heels well up from the floor. This position shows your ankle muscles to contract and gain strength. It is also very important to wear, high-laced shoes, at least when walking during the winter months. They may do much to help you gain the beautiful ankles you desire.

It will be necessary, of course, for you to give time and empty patience, but time and patience are always needed in gaining things worth while, aren't they?

U. S. Warships to Be Equipped With Depth Charges

By T. N. SANDIFER

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Although under the rules adopted by the arms conference the submarine has been technically robbed of some of its principal terrors the United States navy is losing no time in preparing to deal with that weapon should another emergency arise.

The American navy during the world war had ample opportunity to get first-hand information as to the leadiness of the undersea craft, and among the officers having such war experience there are no illusions as to that vessel's ability.

Two of the most efficient weapons against the German submarines were developed by Americans during the war and these weapons are still regarded as of maximum effect. They are the depth bomb and the mine.

American naval officers used both in the war with considerable effect, and one of the outstanding feats of that conflict was the North Sea barrage of mines, in which work the Americans had a major share.

Accordingly, all destroyers not already equipped are now being supplied with an allowance of depth charges. No new manufacture of this device has been undertaken since the war, but ordnance experts are working on improved types and are making satisfactory progress in this development.

The armistice found the navy with considerable material for mine operations on hand. These mines were manufactured primarily for use against German submarines. Since the war experts have overhauled all

William Davis, Decatur resident, is receiving congratulations on his escape from an attempted robbery. Mr. Davis was going east on Vine street when he was commanded to stop by a man said to have been armed with a pistol. Davis, instead of halting, imitated Jack Dempsey, and shot a right to his opponent's jaw, felling the stranger, it was stated, as escaped.

You wouldn't put on hobbles to run a foot race

Then why load up on handicaps for the day's work?

A good deal of food, unwisely chosen, does weigh the body down and clog the digestion, and dull the brain.

Why put on the hobbles?

Grape-Nuts is a breakfast or lunch-time dish for those who want food efficiency, and mind and body efficiency.

Grape-Nuts satisfies and nourishes. It delights the taste. It is ready to serve whenever you are ready to eat. And it digests easily, quickly and completely—leaving no handicap of heaviness and drowsiness.

Grape-Nuts is the food for health and action.
